Project Description

The Community Liaison Office at the US Consulate General in Brasil will be moving from a traditional newsletter format to a blog format so that information can be easily saved, searched and updated. The blog designer will create an eye-catching, easy to use blog to house resource information about life in Recife for use by Foreign Service Officers and their families posted to US Consulate General Recife. Information will cover local service providers, weekend getaways, restaurant recommendations and more. Intern will create google maps of local restaurants and service providers. Intern will also have an opportunity to research and write articles on cultural celebrations and traditions unique to Northeastern Brazil that could be posted to the blog.
